MANIPAL UNIVERSITY, synonymous with excellence in higher education and quality health care is at the forefront of latest developments in medical education and research. The University has off campuses worldwide. KMC Mangaluru, the flagship college of Manipal University was the first medical college to be started under public private partnership by the great visionary Dr. T M A Pai way back in 1955. Established in the year 1977, the department of Biochemistry has been led by stalwarts in the field. The department is hosting the National congress of ACBI this year at a world class facility, the Dr. T.M.A. Pai International Convention Center, Mangaluru,

ACBICON: ACBI was established in 1975 to bring all the clinical biochemists under a single umbrella and give a platform for exchange of research findings and ideas. Since then, the annual national conference is being held every year. Eminent scientists from India and abroad are invited to share their life time experiences through orations and plenary sessions. It provides an unique opportunity for clinicians, academicians, researchers and graduate students to share their research and foster future scientific collaborations. The Association has also instituted several awards to encourage participation of young biochemists.

Symposia Sessions:

IEM, Biomarkers, Lab medicine, Diabetes mellitus, Cancer biology & therapy, Lab accreditation & QC, Cardiovascular diseases, Oxidative stress, Molecular biology & genetics, Stem cell research, Endocrine disorders, Nanotechnology, Phytochemical research, Neurodegenerative diseases, Miscellaneous topics.

Workshop Topics:

1. Advances in lab management and proficiency testing.
2. Hemoglobin variants: Fundamentals and challenges.

CMEs:

1. Framing clinically oriented MCQs and OSPE stations in Biochemistry - A hands on approach
2. Career opportunities for young scientists - IFCC TFYS - free CME
