MEDISAFECON'18

Modern medicine has given us several interventions to modify, control and contain many an ailment and none of these are absolutely safe. Clinical audits have conclusively proven that safety checklists can thwart therapeutic accidents to a great extent. There are well established patient safety measures while many more are evolving. It is said that the road to safety is never complete, it is always under construction. Simply stated, patient safety practices are not only integral to patient care but are an ongoing process. MEDISAFECON '18 is an effort in this direction, a conference to promote patient safety practices.

Highlights:

- Professionalism and Patient safety
- Urology and Patient safety
- Safety in Robotic Surgery
- End of Life Care: Global Relevance
- Patient safety in OBG: UK Perspective
